

GERMANY REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE DEATH OF WILSON OFFICIALLY

FLAG ON TOP OF EMBASSY IN WASHINGTON ORDERED TO STAY AT FULL STAFF

equates with which he was wrecked body will be continued tomorrow to the keeping of time.

"It was his wish," they said.

And before this unanswerable argument all objections melted away, and the voice of a public and a government anxious to do him homage was stilled.

EXPRESSED WISH

One of the few public events in which Mr. Wilson participated after his retirement from the White House was the funeral of the unknown soldier who was buried in Arlington National Cemetery with all the pomp and splendor a grateful nation was capable of rendering to its great.

Mr. Wilson was deeply impressed. He thought it fitting that the symbolic figure of America's heroic dead should be so honored.

But at the same time he had to have expressed a wish that when his time came he would be buried simply as a private citizen, mourned by his friends. A veteran of the war, perhaps, but still a private citizen, no different from the thousands of other war veterans who have found their final resting place in the home land.

And as tomorrow America's best known soldier will be delivered to the earth's keeping with only the simplest and most unostentatious of ceremonies.

But even his own wishes and those of his family cannot entirely shut out the national sorrow that is felt at Woodrow Wilson's passing from the stage of world affairs.

If it were his wish to be buried as a private citizen, but it will be the most distinguished private citizen in America.

Thousands of his friends and followers will line the streets that lead from his modest home to the heights of Mount St. Albans, where, in the historic National Cathedral his body will be laid to rest in its well earned rest.

cathedral grounds to hear the brief, simple services. The commerce of the city will be stilled and the business of government suspended while his remains are removed from the red brick house where he found the comfort and seclusion that were denied him in higher places. And they will be there not because of any sense of duty, but because they want to be.

The heights of Mount St. Albans, where his body will finally lay, command the city of Washington. From the Wilson home in S street the apex of the national cathedral looks out on the western sky line, bathed by the sun by day and by night illuminated by the lights that play on it from the surrounding land.

Although himself a Presbyterian, the former President was greatly interested in the cathedral project, which is aimed at providing for Washington what Westminster Abbey is to London.

"The building," he once wrote to Rev. James C. Fremont, Episcopal

ANNOUNCING SAD-NEWS ON S STREET

President Woodrow Wilson, informing reporters of Mr. Wilson's death. A few moments later the sad news had been flashed all over the world by radio, cable and long rays.

bishop of Washington, "will not only add to the stately beauty of our national capital, but will provide a center from which to radiate the most useful and beneficial work can be done for the uplift of the community and the stimulation of the nation."

PICKED BY HIMSELF

Cathedral site is on Woodley road, approximately three miles north and west of the White House and 400 feet above the Potomac. When completed it will have a great central dome that will rise above the dome of the Capitol and the Washington Monument and will be larger than St. Paul's in London or Notre Dame in Paris.

It will have seating space for 5,000 people and standing room for 27,000 more.

It was here that Woodrow Wilson chose to be laid to rest in his last long rest, overlooking the Capitol, where he labored so long and to such great ends, rather than on the Heights of Arlington, where soil has been and probably now shall ever be held sacred and inviolate for the men who were the uniform of war.

A gusty wind and a high, driving rain that fell on Washington during the night had little effect today in stunning the tide of sorrowful callers that passed the Wilson home to leave mementos of their grief at the former President's passing.

Nor did the weather act as a barrier to the score who, as on Sunday and yesterday, chose to stand in the cold opposite the house and make pay their respects to a departed leader.

VERY FEW PRESENT

All day long there were reverent tributes to Mr. Wilson before the house in which he died. And as on Sunday and yesterday, there were a few who stood in the cold opposite the house and made pay their respects to a departed leader.

The government's participation in the obsequies probably will be the slightest that has ever been known in the case of a former President.

The Cabinet held a short, perfunctory meeting today to make definite arrangements. It is understood that there will be no military dignitaries save the President and Mrs. Coolidge, and the Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft at the house services tomorrow.

Very few cards will be issued to the home, and these will go principally to personal friends and associates of Mr. Wilson. Without regard to rank or station in life, two groups of men devoted to the honorary pal bearers, selected from old friends and members of his war Cabinet.

At the cathedral services at 12:30 p. m. half an hour after the conclusion of the services at the home, there will be a greater representation as the Bethlehem Chapel will hold some 100 people.

There it will be possible for the officers of the Coolidge Cabinet and representative of the Senate and House to pay their respects.

Mr. Donnell will be leaving Mayor until next Monday, at least, because of the failure of the Council to elect a president, should the Council remain in deadlock longer than the week ended, he will be at the head of the city government until a president is chosen.

VERMONT MAN AMONG EIGHT PICKED FOR ENLISTED MEN IN NAVY

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—Woodrow Wilson's final guard of honor, which will convey his body from the scene of his last activities and death to the place of entombment, will be representative of the three fighting arms of the nation.

Eight sailors, chosen from the crew of the Presidential yacht, Mayflower, will symbolize the great armada of America's naval forces.

Eight marines will add to the entombment a fresh memory of the glorious battles of the battlefields like Belleau wood.

From these twenty-four will be selected those who actually will carry him forth from the quiet house where he sought and found solace, and will lower him at last into the place of repose in the crypt of the great cathedral.

Upon the roll of those who will be selected there who actually will carry him forth from the quiet house where he sought and found solace, and will lower him at last into the place of repose in the crypt of the great cathedral.

VERMONT MAN

For the Navy—Clair Alexander Esell, coxswain, Wareham, S. C.; William Lafayette Cole, radio officer, Newport, R. I.; Oscar Herriot, sailmaker's mate, first-class, Brooklyn, Arthur Francis Frazier, sailor's mate, first-class, Windsor, Vt.; John Telle Sharp, coxswain, Montpelier, N. J.; Roy Lester Jones, yeoman, third-class, Dayton, O.; John Louis Silberman, quartermaster, first-class, Elkhart, Ind.; Edward White, yeoman, first-class, Oklahoma City, Okla.

For the Marine Corps—Elmer C. Rowe, gunnery sergeant, Sidney, N. Y., who wears the Croix de Guerre with palm; William C. Clayton, gunnery sergeant, Smithland, Ky.; John J. Agnew, staff sergeant, New York; John Dunn, sergeant, Paterson, N. J.; Richard S. Perkins, sergeant, first-class, New York; Coleman, corporal, Lanett, Ala.; Paul O. Morin, sergeant, Elm City, N. C.; John J. Moran, corporal, Syracuse, N. Y.

WHITE HOUSE STAFF

The list of those who will accompany the body to the cathedral is not yet complete. At the request of Mrs. Wilson, six members of the White House staff will accompany the body to the cathedral. The President will be admitted both to the private funeral services at the house and the ceremonies later at the cathedral. They are:

Chief of staff, since Mr. Wilson's time: Nelson F. Webster, cashier at the executive offices throughout the last half-dozen administrations; H. H. Hovey, chief of the executive office; E. W. Smith, chief telegrapher; P. E. McKenna, under secretary of the treasury; C. W. Bagge, chief stenographer.

Wilson's 'Greatest Friend of Filipinos'

Manila, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Philippine Legislature has adjourned out to respect to Woodrow Wilson, his appointing committees to arrange a program for a suitable service in his honor.

Leading citizens issued statements paying tribute to the former President as the greatest friend of the Philippines. Manuel Quizon said: "The Filipino people would weep over the death of this great American. We owe him a debt of gratitude which we can never repay."

"In this hour of sorrow the officers and men of the Philippine Republic extend to the President and his family their deepest sympathy. The passing of Mr. Wilson represents a tremendous loss to his country and the cause in which he so bravely believed."

UNOFFICIAL HOLIDAY FOR WASHINGTON

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP)—At the request of a majority of law-abiding citizens, the government will suspend their activities tomorrow afternoon, as an expression of respect for former President Woodrow Wilson, an official work cannot be suspended because of the death of a former President.

The President's cabinet decided that while no official holiday would be declared, the President's cabinet would suspend their activities tomorrow afternoon, as an expression of respect for former President Woodrow Wilson, an official work cannot be suspended because of the death of a former President.

DEATH OF LINCOLN

On the scalp. It was opened and dressed. Then he was put to bed in the hospital. He died on the 11th.

"So far as can be determined," said a doctor, "the wound was not a fracture of the skull, but a laceration of the brain tissue. Whether his fatal injury was brought about by his being struck or roughly handled, as has been determined. Evidently his forehead was the point of impact."

post mortem will be ordered by the Department of Justice officials, also conducted by the coroner. The body will be brought into port. Other members of the crew are believed in submitting the reconditioned airship will be questioned.

CITY HALL TO CLOSE ONLY DURING HOUR OF FUNERAL

City Hall will be closed tomorrow only between 11 and 4 p. m. instead of all day as first was ordered by Mayor Curley.

Instead of a complete day of closing, the order to heads of departments met by the Mayor said, a substitute order was issued that only during the funeral hour would City Hall, courts and other public buildings be closed.

Regulations prevent anything being done until official order arrives.

Pending arrival of specific orders from the War Department at Washington, flags at headquarters of the First Corps Area and at the army posts throughout the area are flying at half staff.

Army regulations, according to Colonel H. G. Learned, chief of staff to Major-General Andrew W. Brewster, commanding the First Corps Area, provide that flags at army posts shall be placed at half staff only on the day of the funeral.

Colonel Learned said that the same method of procedure as prevailed when Theodore Roosevelt died in 1919, will likely be followed at Washington.

Flags at all army posts were ordered to be placed at half staff for the day of the funeral only. Such orders were expected late today, Colonel Learned stated.

'IRISH BLARNEY' OF MRS. DE BOUCHEL WON CANDLER CASE WITNESS

DSPROVES SPANISH ANCESTRY

Woman in Half Million Love Suit Childless, Mrs. Wickliffe Asserts

By MRS. JACQUES FUTURELL
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 4 (Universal)—A nice little display of fireworks was on view in the Candler-De Bouchel, half a million dollar breach of promise case.

Instant was injected into the somewhat dull, dignified proceeding by the presence of three live witnesses at the stand, two of them women friends of Mrs. De Bouchel, and the important fact that Judge Sibley's ruling on the validity of the Nevada divorce, sent the case back to its job.

The fireworks came from Mr. Candler, attorney for Mrs. De Bouchel, toward the closing of day's session. He gambled was addressing the jury in street and impassioned tones and, to a woman, vituperative language, with the excitement was postponed until another day.

DOMINEERING WOMEN

The day began to be the woman's side of the case. Lydia Wickliffe, a New Orleans friend of Mrs. De Bouchel, called to the stand by Mr. Candler. She proved to be a calm, dispassionate witness and by her own statement, quoting the words of Mrs. De Bouchel, "a domineering person."

She answers at first crisp and decisive, "I do," "I will," etc. Later she gravitates toward her friendship with Mrs. De Bouchel, and how she had been influenced in keeping her from seeking relief from her maternal trouble in divorce, thus she declared was in 1917, two years before Mrs. De Bouchel's acquaintance with Mr. Candler.

KNEW CANDLER

When Mrs. Wickliffe was asked if she knew Mr. Candler, she answered most emphatically: "I do." She described meeting Mr. Candler in Atlanta when she visited the city with Mrs. Philip Werlein, of New Orleans, who, she said, Will Hays of movie fame, had called the "Carriage of the movies."

Describing why she wanted Mrs. De Bouchel to stay in New Orleans and help her with good roads and other movements, Mrs. Wickliffe said Mrs. De Bouchel, according to her "Irish blarney" was always a good person to talk to Senators. She laughed a little when she said Mrs. De Bouchel always got what she wanted.

ANCESTRY NOT SPANISH

Incidentally the Irish in the Blarney disposed of the impression that Mrs. De Bouchel is of Spanish-French ancestry, so described in one of Mr. Candler's letters.

A point that was made much of in questioning each witness was if Mrs. De Bouchel had any children. The answer always was "No."

Mrs. Wickliffe is sure Mrs. De Bouchel never drank whiskey, because, as she explained, "she had to be consistent in objecting to her husband drinking" and she had never seen her smoke.

The second woman witness, Mrs. McKinley of New Orleans, testified in a few words that she was supposed to be Mrs. De Bouchel's friend. She admitted she had met Mr. Candler in 1922, on her way to New York with Mrs. De Bouchel.

JOYE STERLING THREE ESCAPED REBELS; WON'T TAKE TEST CONVICTS ARE SHOT DEAD

"Running Wild" Beauty Refuses Court Order to Submit to an Examination
Joyce Sterling, "the American Beauty," returning wild, who yesterday examined Judge Cohen in Municipal Court that she would not do a post-mortem on her "case if she was wild," refused to carry out her promise today when she appeared at court.

"I am not wild," she protested, emphasizing her charge made yesterday that people were trying to make her worse than she really is. "I will not submit to an examination, for I know that I am all right."

Mrs. Sterling was arrested Saturday night at the Coplay Plaza for violating her parole and after nine months' absence from court was arraigned again Monday morning. Witnesses, including college boy friends, told of a number of wild parties in which she has figured in Boston hotels.

After half an hour in private conference with court officials today she disclosed the identity of her aunt, her "only relative," whom she said furnished her the money to live in Boston hotels.

"My aunt doesn't know I'm having this trouble," she said, "and I don't want you to expose her name. She is not responsible for my parole."

The case was continued until Wednesday.

DOG HELPS TRAP TWO IN HAYSTACK; FUGITIVES SLEW JAIL GUARD IN THEIR FLIGHT

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 5.—Fifteen with buckshot, the bodies of three convicts who escaped from the State Penitentiary here after killing James Hart, a sixty-year-old guard, were back at the prison today. Quarter sections of a dog resulted in the capture.

The three were shot to death by prison guards after they had taken refuge in a haystack on a farm five miles southeast of here.

A dozen penitentiary guards found the fugitives huddled in the hay pile to protect themselves from the severe blizzard which had visited this vicinity several hours earlier. No longer had the guards appeared than one of the two opened fire with the revolver taken from the Guard Hart.

The weapon contained three bullets, and these were fired at the guards, who immediately returned the fire. The bodies of the convicts were loaded on a truck and returned to the penitentiary.

First intimation of the whereabouts of the fugitives reached prison authorities about 6 p. m. when Robert Rusk, a dayman residing near where the trio had taken refuge, reported that his dog had been acting queerly.

The prison guards hopped in automobiles and drove to the place. They found the bodies of two men running away. In the chase that followed, Brown fired three shots over the heads of the fugitives.

At Union Park street the three separated. One bolted down a side street and got away. The other, Brown, dove into the lodging house at No. 323 Shawmut avenue and was captured.

He was taken to the East End station and booked as a suspicious person.

$100,000 LOSS IN BLAZE IN PEPPERELL

Blaze in Block, With Several Stores Destroyed; Out-side Help Called

Pepperell, Feb. 5.—The E. E. Tarbell business block in the center of this town was destroyed by fire today at a loss estimated at $100,000. The two-story brick structure, containing a big store and market, a pharmacy, the telephone exchange and Knight of Columbus rooms, is in ruins.

The fire followed an explosion in the basement of the drug store. Thomas Hildley, night operator, detected smoke immediately afterward. He rushed to his post, sounding the alarm and calling help from nearby places.

Between nine and ten o'clock, a quarter of an hour after the explosion had been free to flee to safety. Nathan Groton and Ayer firemen and apparatus aided the Pepperell fire department in saving adjoining and nearby buildings, all of which was threatened.

All central office equipment of the telephone company was destroyed. By rapid notification of Old Peppers from Peppersburg, Springfield, Worcester and Boston, sent a three-story neighborhood in Old Peppersburg. It is expected all lines will be ready by midnight.

TEACHERS FROWN ON GIRL PUPILS WEARING KNICKERS

GARMENTS ARE BANNED IN UPPER SCHOOLS

Student and faculty opinion, ever more powerful than the specific rules and orders of the school house, decrees that "knickers" shall not be worn in school by high school girls.

The faculty has taken action in this matter in Metropolitan Boston. No high school girl has been forbidden to wear the convenient garment, unless it has been by her own parents. But "knickers" are not worn in some venturesome high schools.

SEEKS STAY AGAINST N. Y. COTTON FIRM

New York, Feb. 5.—Characterizing the case of Scott, Norris & Co., cotton brokers, who recently failed for $2,000,000 as a "very aggravated case," Deputy Attorney General Chambers today appeared before Supreme Court Justices Wagner and restraining the firm from doing further business in the State. Chambers said that in all of the business the company did he could not find a case in which the firm had ever paid anyone a dollar. Counsel for the firm, opposing the injunction, denied any bucketing on the part of the company. Justice Wagner gave both sides until February 14 to submit papers for a permanent injunction.

Junior League Show Draws Large Gathering, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

COMPLETELY captivated was Mrs. Dudley Ranney as the chief heroine of "Miss Modiste."

The host of fashionable who through the Coppy Theatre last night witnessed this first presentation of the Junior League would hardly let Margaret Wellington Ranney leave the stage. Every time she sang a song or danced they clapped until she had to repeat it over and over again.

In the first act she was the chic, clever, yet altogether winsome little modiste of the Parisian atelier. She wore a demurely old-fashioned frock of apricot tulle and made a very dainty picture. In the first scene of the second act she wore a black gown and hat of a far more sophisticated style, and was as bewitching as ever. But as the mascot of the French soldiers in the last scene she made her biggest hit.

She wore a snappy horizon blue uniform and, besides marching and playing the drum in right smart style, she did a number of very neatly executed slide steps. And the audience would hardly let her go.

Joseph Sargent made a very dashing "Captain Etienne de Rouvray." Tall and blonde he was, which was entirely the thing, as Mrs. Ranney is petite and dark.

EVEN her best friends could hardly recognize Miss Julie Ripley as the domineering "Mrs. Cecil" so clever was her makeup.

Miss Miriam Shepard played very well the role of "Mrs. Hiram Best," the millionaire lady from Chicago with a distinct hat complex.

Oh so haughty and handsome was "Marie Louise de Rouvray," played by Miss Gertrude Taylor, a slender, willowy blonde, who wore some particularly smart-looking costumes.

Poster Trainer played the gony, cranky "Henri de Rouvray, Comte de St. Mar," while James Seymour made a very likable "Hiram Best."

Henry Pratt scored quite a hit in the last act when, as money-loving "Gaston," he sang some catchy verses on the complications of the English language as observed by a Frenchman.

Mrs. Langdon Simons and Mrs. Elvyn James sang very charmingly several duets in their respective roles of "Fanchetta" and "Nanette." Miss Louise Ripley was one of the hit models, and caused not a little applause when she appeared as the jaunty little "Prima Donna Model."

Among the singing girls was Miss Harriet Royce. The dancing girls were at their best in the last scene.

But I mustn't forget the Footmen! De die, which very nearly caused a riot. The boys taking part in it caused such a hit that they could hardly have delighted the audience as much if they had known their steps.

"VIN" RICHARDS SPURNED BY MILLIONAIRE PAPA-IN-LAW

LOVE FAILS TO SOFTEN MR. GUSHEE

"You Cannot Print What I Think," Says Daddy of Heirless Who Wed Tennis Star

New York, Feb. 5.—"Love will win out." Only two weeks ago the famous tennis player and authority, Vincent Richards, as Boston American staff correspondent, jumped on newspaper line-light by getting first authentic interview with Count Ludwig Salm Von Hoogstraten and his bride, the vivacious daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Henry Hamilton Rogers, telling of the partial reconciliation with the parents of the $400,000 heiress.

"Love will win out," Count Salm said Colonel Rogers stated when he finally gave a more or less hearted "God bless you" to his eloping daughter and her Austrian nobleman.

For days Vincent Richards had been in constant touch with the Count and his bride. He went to their Ritz apartment and played bridge. He let the Count beat him at tennis on the Ritz roof. It is even stated that he went to encourage the Count to mildly violate the Volstead law, or words to that effect, though there are no affidavits regarding this point.

He dined with the dippers. He lunched with them. He went dining and eating with them. He met them at the ski contests of St. Moritz.

He pulled the "red sweater" and was able to give an accurate description of how the sloping business is done.

Last Wednesday Richards put out the information he had gathered in the very best of use.

He slept with an heiress. He went up to Greenwich, Conn., went through a judicial and church ceremony, staged an elaborate wedding dinner and reception, and returned to New York, where he and his bride were received with acclaim at the big McAlpin Hotel—all before Papa Gushee had even an inkling of it.

The heiress was pretty Claremont Gushee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Gushee, of the famous Claremont Inn on Riverside Drive, and the Lantana View Inn up the Hudson.

The bride's $2,000,000 papa has not yet arrived at the stage where he admits that only "love can win a way," but, Matthew Gushee has acknowledged a new son, and "Mary," faithful maid in the family for almost twice as many years as the bride is old, has cast her lot with the newweds.

The rate father-in-law still is lord of the castle on the Ritz—state. "What I have to say is not fit to print," is his curt comment.

Now Vincent Richards is wondering just how long it will take for Papa Gushee to arrive at the conclusion that came to Col Rogers: "Love will win out."

THIS WOMAN'S MARVELOUS RECOVERY

All Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Truman, Minn.—"I was badly run-down and had pains in my side and back, sometimes I couldn't hardly move around in bed. My husband put me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it I was so much better I could do all my housework again. I do my housework, raise chickens, and in harvest time I worked in the field and helped pick corn. Sometimes I do chores and milk. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after my four-month-old baby was born and it has always helped me wonderfully. I believe there is no better medicine made for women, and I hope every woman will give it a fair trial."

FEAST OF ICE CREAM THIS DOG'S PASTIME

JANE AND A LITTLE FRIEND

Newsboys and grocery boys of the Back Bay have organized in an effort to find this missing dog that may have gone on an ice cream feast.

DOG ICE CREAM THIEF MISSING, TOTS MOURN

Jane is gone and a hundred little hearts in the vicinity of Massachusetts and Huntington avenue beat for her.

Jane is just a dog whose principal claim to fame arises from the fact that she, among other things, is a finished ice cream thief.

Jane is owned by Miss Elizabeth Hunt, of No. 229A Massachusetts avenue—that is, she makes her official residence with Miss Hunt but in truth she is owned by the entire neighborhood.

Jane is a little black thing with a white patch on her chest and four white feet. She disappeared Saturday afternoon, and newsboys and grocery boys have organized in an effort to locate her.

A year ago, Jane acquired a mighty taste for ice-cream and she soon learned just the easiest way to get it was by stealing it off the youngsters in the neighborhood.

Thereafter, an ice cream cone was in constant jeopardy when Jane was around, and she generally got it.

Of course Miss Hunt is heartbroken and she offered a suitable reward. "Maybe she's gone on an ice cream jag. I'll sell anything I possess in the world to get her back," declared Miss Hunt.

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Jad Salts to Overcome Toxic Acid

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. It is not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood. If it is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood, it is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood.

In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, the become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinges of rheumatism get from your pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidic remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

ANOTHER BOOST IN GASOLINE LIKELY

Boston Dealers Predict an Advance, Based on Soaring Crude Oil Price

An advance of two cents a gallon in the retail price of gasoline, announced by Standard Oil in Chicago, was declared by local refiners today to be a result of the unchecked rise in the price of crude oil.

While standing pat for the present on their two-cent boost of last week, the Boston offices of the big gasoline companies point to the prices of "crude" as forecasting higher retail figures. Several producers in both the Southern and Midwestern oil fields raised the price 15 cents a barrel yesterday, and Central Western grades of crude oil went up 20 cents.

The proposed State investigation of gasoline prices by the Massachusetts Legislature was brought a step nearer when the House of Representatives conferred with the Senate in referring to the committee on narcotic affairs the several bills.

Indian Wards Given $36,659,810 as Oil Royalties

Washington, Feb. 5.—The nation's Indian wards received $36,659,810 in royalties last year from oil and gas leases on their lands, their oil bonuses ranging from 12 1/2 to 20 per cent, on a total production of 5,914,477 barrels, according to a report by the Interior Department.

The richest Indian oil lands are in Oklahoma, where the report said, the Osage realized $20,512,111 on 413,913,173 barrels and the five civilized tribes received $5,281,088 from a production of 11,414,619 barrels.

While standing pat for the present on their two-cent boost of last week, the Boston offices of the big gasoline companies point to the prices of "crude" as forecasting higher retail figures. Several producers in both the Southern and Midwestern oil fields raised the price 15 cents a barrel yesterday, and Central Western grades of crude oil went up 20 cents.

The proposed State investigation of gasoline prices by the Massachusetts Legislature was brought a step nearer when the House of Representatives conferred with the Senate in referring to the committee on narcotic affairs the several bills.

REBELS ESCAPE OBREGON TRAP IN MEXICO

Fall Back Toward Vera Cruz After Eluding Federals; They Blow Up Bridge in Retreat

Mexico City, Feb. 5 (U.N.S.)—General Enrique Estrada's rebel army on the western battle front has succeeded in escaping from Matamoros, state of Michoacan, and is retreating in the direction of Saltillo, according to advices to the War Department today.

"I am deprived of the pleasure of reporting victory for our troops and defeat of the enemy," President Obregon telegraphed to the War Department.

Rebels on the southwestern front have dynamited the famous "sacred bridge" on the Mexicano Highway at Matamoros, state of Vera Cruz in an effort to check the federal advance upon the city of Vera Cruz. This bridge was regarded as one of the foremost engineering achievements in the world.

The refusal of the Eastern Mass. Board of Approve Officials to allow any one of the three players who have been suspended to play in these parts is good news. The board is right in its decision to suspend the players who attempt to disrupt the work of officials the better.

MOODY WILL GIVE BOGASH SEVERE RING TEST IN GO TONIGHT

BOUNT OUT SOUTH KIDNER

By JACK CONWAY.
Frank Moody, a pupil of the Jimmy Wilde school of fighting, will swing punches with Lou Bogash in a ten-round bout at the Commercial A. C. show at Mechanics Building tonight.

AMES SATS MOODY WILL BECOME WORLD CHAMPION.

Billy Ames, Moody's manager, says his protégé will be the next middleweight champion. Like most managers, Ames is enthusiastic when discussing the merits of his boxer.

Bogash does not need any introduction to Boston fans. He stands with Greb, Wilson and Malone as a middleweight leader. He has fought some of his most sensational contests in this city.

Pal Reed, Mickey Walker, Joe Egan, George Robinson and other rugged youths have gone down to defeat before Bogash. In his last contest here, Lou was outpointed by the intangible Jack Malone. A few weeks later, at Bridgeport, Bogash scored the score which was a reward for a decision over the St. Paul man.

Moody will have a very strenuous coming-out party.

The ten-round final, which will feature Archie Walker of New York and Ted Marchant of England is a good enough for an ordinary main bout. Walker is numbered three and has won a decision over Byron, New England lightweight champion, for a loss. He's also named Billy Green and other brave warriors lack of their own pool room.

Marchant comes here rated highly and will prove a suitable man to test Walker's amazing ability.

Paul Desbois of Quincy will box eight rounds with Jack Dillon of Woburn. Frank Meria of South Boston will box eight rounds with Young Kennerly of Terry, N. H.

MAH MURRAY ALWAYS LIKED TO SEE THE BIG FELLOWS.

The late Mah Murray, the most prominent person ever connected with boxing in Boston other than the illustrious John L. Sullivan, often told this writer he preferred wrestling heavyweights to boxing.

The demand for reservations for the bout between Battling McCreary, world's colored light-heavyweight champion, and Kid Norfolk, who will be staged by the Suffolk A. C. at Mechanics Building on Friday night, seems to bear out Murray's statement. As a world's title fight, it will be the first of its kind in the city.

On another page are the starting chapters of "Clickie." You've seen it advertised. It's all that you could wish.

had thumping when they met last night. Inasmuch as Norfolk recently won over Battling Shi, conqueror of Georges Carpentier, he may be relied upon to give as good as he takes.

Boston has been the scene of some of the most thrilling bouts between colored heavyweights that have been staged. Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette put up several spectacular battles at the Armory Club in the old days. Later, Norfolk and Lee Anderson furnished an abundance of thrills.

The youthful McCreary, five years younger than Dempsey, now steps into the picture, confident of his ability to defeat Norfolk and other heavyweights. He is five years younger than Jack Dempsey and if he puts on ten more pounds may be the man to conquer the world's heavyweight king. Will, Firpo and Gibbons are all older than Dempsey and some of them is likely to become champion.

YALE HOKEY TEAM DEFEATS DARTMOUTH
New Haven, Feb. 5.—Before a large number of junior promenade, the Yale hockey team defeated Dartmouth, 2 to 0, in a fast game.

With the exception of Captain Hall, the Dartmouth players could do little against a strong Yale defense. The Yale team played a more aggressive game than did the Harvard team. Excellent goalkeeping by Learned saved the team a half dozen times during some lively scrimmages in front of his goal.

NORWAY LEADER IN THE OLYMPIC GAMES
Cranich, Feb. 5.—By winning the first three places in the ski jumping contests, Norway increased its hold on the Winter sports contests of the 1924 Olympic games.

The Norwegians placed Thomas Ruess and Haug in the first three places. Haugen of America with the longest jump was placed fourth by the judges, who rank the contestants for "distance" rather than for "style."

The point totals of the leaders now are: Norway, 112½; Finland, 10½; England 10; United States 15.

Dilboy Post to Stage Intercity Bouts

K. C. of Hall, Somerville, will be the rendezvous for all the followers of the amateur mild welders on Thursday evening, when the annual Inter-City Tournament staged under the auspices of George Dilboy Post, V. F. W.

Officials of the Metropolitan A. A. C. of New York have promised the committee in charge of this show that they will send over two of the best boys in each of the following classes: 111, 126 and 136 pounds, to compete against two of the best boys representing this section in the same classes.

The outstanding entry for this tournament is that of Ray Cross of Milford, who has been picked by the committee together with Red Griffin of Chelsea, to perform in the 136-pound class.

Cross is, without a doubt, the best boy performing in amateur circles today and his earliest performances this season found him cleaning up all opposition.

Has not been appearing during the last six weeks because of the fact that he received a cut over his eye while performing in New York, and it is only now that it has properly healed.

Cross is a clever boxer and possesses a K. O. waiting in either hand. Should both he and Griffin develop their opponents from New York and come together in the finals, the fans are in for a terrific bout.

HERB PENNOCK WAS IN AN AUTO CRASH
West Chester, Pa., Feb. 5.—Joseph O. Freck, H. H. Freck and Herbert Pennock, the star pitcher of the Yankees, narrowly escaped serious injury when their automobile, running fifty miles an hour on the way to the fox hunt at Delchester Park, crashed with the machine of James Kirkpatrick, at Kirkpatrick's home on the Wilmington Pike, some miles south of West Chester.

As the Kirkpatrick car turned into a lane it was struck by the other automobile, whirled about on the road bed and practically torn to pieces, while the car containing Pennock and his friends, was seriously damaged, although none of the occupants was hurt.

SPORT EXPERTS GET THRILL AT BIG FIGHT AT

Billy Boy Brewster and the Hoboken Kid both scored a knockout with sport fans who gathered at the Park Theatre to see Marion Davis in her latest film, "Little Old New York."

"I would like to get somebody who can fight like those two brats," said Matchmaker Tom Goodwin of the Suffolk Club, after witnessing Billy Boy Brewster and the Hoboken Kid swing blows.

"I'm mighty thankful I'm not a judge at this contest," was the remark of Pat Moran, a judge of the Boxing Commission, as he watched the big punches go over.

The large number of sporting celebrities who attended the show at the Park Theatre were thrilled by the action in "Little Old New York." They voted it the premier film ever shown in New England.

"Billy Boy Brewster and the Hoboken Kid remind me of some of the fighters I used to see perform in the old days," said John B. Glossey, sporting editor of the Boston American. "It is action from bell to bell. Some of our present day tanaqui artists could very well take a few tips from Billy Boy Brewster and the Hoboken Kid."

Jack Collins of Somerville was another who was enthusiastic over the film.

Jack Sheehan, who has refereed more boxing bouts than most people have seen, remarked:

"Billy Boy Brewster and the Hoboken Kid are a couple of very good boys. I did not see the job of trying to pry these two punches apart."

Steve Mahoney declared the bout reminded him of the one between Harry Edliss and Beau Brumm of the old Army Club.

The boys certainly let the punches fly," said Steve.

Jack Conway asserted he would have been willing to bet money upon to decide between heavy hitters like Billy Boy Brewster and the Hoboken Kid.

All in all, "twas a very active evening for those who like action. Drop in and see the fun."

GYMNASTIC DISPLAY AT CITY FRIDAY NIGHT

A public exhibition to be given at the Huntington Avenue branch of the Y. M. C. A. on Friday night by the famous Springfield College gymnastics team.

The team is noted as expert in every phase of physical education, and in Boston will be seen in action in a Morris stick dance, Indian clubs, bar exercises, Swedish gymnastics, rhythmic exercises, Russian dances, wand drill, pyramid work, electric club work and in other forms of gymnastics.

One of the team includes the stimulation of interest in gymnastics, the development of an all-around ability in the gymnast, and the development of every man participate in every event.

For eighteen years the Massachusetts institute has sent representatives to many cities for demonstration.

Leslie J. Judd, champion Indian club thrower, and a member of the team, and W. P. Ashbrook has been captain for two years.

Boston Lodge Elks Calls Baseball Night Off

Baseball Night at the Boston Lodge of Elks, which was to be a testimonial to the visiting magistrates, has been called off in respect to the memory of Woodrow Wilson.

Exalted Ruler Kane and President Ben Johnson of the American League met yesterday to decide to postpone the affair.

It will be staged later in the form of a reception to Bobby Quinn and Red Sox, and President Ben has promised to attend.

HAMBONE IS ON BIG CARD AT SUFFOLK A. A.

Hambone Kelly, might son of the world, will resume action in the ring when he clashes with Jimmie Mack, Irish champion, in one of many bouts at the Suffolk A. A. on Friday night.

Kelly's injured shoulder is in fine condition and he will rely upon his famous haymaker to win.

The South Boston entry has a rather healthy assignment, as Hambone is a good boxer and heavy puncher. Furthermore, he is one of those young men who are in there butting every second as he proves where he gave Johnny Wilson a furious ten-session mail at Scranton last Summer.

Jack Sharkey, a sensational puncher, will clash with Battling Hance of Quincy in another ten-rounder. Sharkey knocked out Billy Middleton of Lynn with a couple of punches at the Elks' show.

Jack Bulger, Mickey Walker's manager, considers Sharkey a superb ring prospect than Luis Firpo was when he first started battling in New Jersey. Hance is under the management of Harry Kelly, who says his protégé will upset Sharkey.

The opening ten-round mill will bring together William Allen of Hyde Park and Neddo Flanagan of Malden.

The feature tussle will be for the world's light-heavyweight championship ring, which will feature McCreary, title holder, and Kid Norfolk of New York. It is a heavy-weight affair ever made by a Boston club and it is expected to jam Mechanics Building to capacity.

Boston American Ring Results

At New York, Cannabell Eddie Martin, won decision over Mike Smith, six rounds.

At Philadelphia, Harry Marton, Jersey City, won decision over Mike Schultz, Philadelphia, eight rounds.

At Toledo, O., Jack Malone, St. Paul, won decision over Young Fisher, Syracuse, twelve rounds.

Mickey Magan, Cleveland, and Chick Almont, Toledo, fought eight-round draw; Phil Krith, Cincinnati, knocked out Adam Krato, Toledo, in five rounds.

At New Brunswick, N. J., Joey Slick, New York, outpointed Red Wilson, New York, eight rounds.

At Columbus, Ga., Young Sledge, awarded a referee's decision over Vic McLaughlin, New York.

At Philadelphia, Bobby Wolkstein won judge's decision over Al Marzani, Philadelphia, ten rounds.

At Buffalo, Jimmy Goodrich won decision over Pedro Campy.

LOUGHRAN HAS CLASS TO BEAT WILSON

Johnny Wilson, who is now acting as his own manager, will take on one of the hardest battles of his career when he clashes with Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia in a ten-round bout at the Armory A. A. show at Mechanics Building on Tuesday night.

Wilson will be meeting one of the world's leading fighters, a twenty-two year old youth who won a decision over Harry Greb here in Boston last year.

Wilson is being given the prior to that had twice defeated Mike Mo-

Tommy Loughran thinks, Wilson must have great confidence in his own ability when he will consent to risk an exchange of blows with Loughran.

It is said that Wilson feels that if he can vanquish Loughran that he will have proved he is a fit opponent to tackle Greb here in Boston.

This is one of the most expensive matches billed by a Boston club in a long time. Wilson is being guaranteed $5,000 while Loughran is getting $2,500. Both boxes are receiving liberal percentage privileges.

The strange thing about the contest is that most of the fans would like to see Loughran win. Perhaps this is due to the fact Wilson has won eight straight bouts in Boston, even ability with a boxer until he reaches the top, then they root for somebody to come along and hand him a setback.

The Armory Club announces that reservations may now be secured for this show.

BAN JOHNSON PREDICTS FIRST VISION FOR THE RED SOX

AMERICAN LEAGUE MEETS

By NICK FLATLEY
Ban Johnson is willing to admit that Bob Quinn will raise general reaction in that American League race next summer. The general Ban thinks so much of the Red Sox chances that he has risked a dinner on the statement that the club would finish in the first division.

Ban, who is here to preside over this afternoon's meeting of the A. L. League, did his raising with John I. Taylor, who used to own the Sox once. Ban, of course, may be optimistic. Even President Gooden and Manager Pohl and club agent Farway booster aren't predicting anything as good as all that, whatever they may be dreaming or hoping.

Mister Johnson's magazine has nothing of extreme importance to decide today, apart from ratifying the schedule. That, more or less, is a matter of course. As one of the hard boiled lobby experts remarked:

"Comiskey hasn't traded a good player in eighteen years, and never will. How could he? He might trade a base hit against him some day." Chances are that the Washington manager will not be settled for quite a while yet. Griffith says that he wants to get somebody who will be interested in the pastime and the club, as well as the matter of salary.

"It will spend more money for players," explains Griffith, "than anybody. But I know what I want, and I have a team that needs only a little touching up to be a real contender. I want to get a manager who will trail along with me, while we are polishing off a regular club, and there'll be no trouble at all. He can have a life contract, if he wants one."

Eddie Collins. It was reported that the Washington Fox might sign Jack Barry of Holy Cross and Worcester, but we have an idea that particular thing is off the books. It never did get any farther than the mere preliminary stage.

The most interesting development of the just-before-the-meeting conversation was the explanation of the San Antonio team, who have been called Jack Chesbro of the Yankees, and Willie Keeler were the discoverers, and the thing was done on the spur of the moment in an extraordinary manner.

Clark Griffith was managing the Sox, and coach at the time. Chesbro was paroled. Jack was tried and sent to the pen. It was said that Griffith, "and make Keeler hunt," and he did. He got out of the pen and win-up and yelled at Keeler, one of the greatest batters of all time. Willie got the idea without taking his eye off the ball and dropped down and a white pitcher Jack scored.

"That was the first square play," explains Griffith, "and we pulled it to month after that, before the gang got wise to just how effective it was. Then, of course, it was worked to death."

LEWIS TO MEET

By NICK KENNY
The manager has made a decided hit in matching these two men. Never before in the history of the game have two brawlers Lewis and McGraw been so well matched as Jack and Al.

Both men are clean and fast. Both know the wrestling game from the ground up. Both will weigh in the neighborhood of 187 pounds.

There won't be two pounds advantage either way. Albricht was matched to meet Joe Alvarez with the promise that the winner would meet Lew Lewis for the title the following week. He just missed by a hair.

Konors was on the Pacific coast and beat several heavyweights with the promise that if he won he would meet Lewis.

Lewis wasn't available when the time came for the match. So Konors lost out. So in the past two months both boys have lost a chance to meet Lewis.

Added to that, Paul Bowser, Matchmaker at the Grand Opera House, promises the winner of this contest a match with Stringer Lewis one week later for the World's Title. This promise has elated both boys. Albricht is confident of his ability to beat the Greek. It has his ambition to wrestle for the World's Title.

Now he seeks his desire almost as he does Lewis. He is also confident he can beat Albricht. He has been clamoring for a return match with Lewis for over a year and now he sees the opportunity thrust to him.

Intense interest is shown in the bout between Nick Bonis, the Greek star, and Savage Toole, another contender for the Greek title. The management has been over a month getting these boys to fight. It will be a real bout, but the winner in this match will be the loser in the opening bout Frank Dutcher will lock horns with Bill Rudy, the scores.

Jack Conway Picks Lou Bogash and Walker to Win

Jack Conway, holder of the world's record for picking winners, hands out the following dogs on tonight's Commercial A. C. show:

"I am picking Lou Bogash to win over Frank Moody in the feature bout," says Jack.

"It should be a rugged punching battle. Moody, unlike most English ring men, relies upon the old stock to upset the money."

"Archie Walker, one of the most promising lightweights in this country, should win over Ted Marchant."

Jack has picked nineteen winners out of a possible twenty-one.

STABS MAN TO SAVE HONOR OF DAUGHTER

Pietro Declares Principe, Wife in Italy. Arranged to Wed Here

Michael di Pietro, No. 414 Commercial street, North End, who asked Patrolman Charles Perrelli of the Hanover street station to arrest him, was arraigned today before Chief Justice Beller in the Municipal Court on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill Albert Principe, also of No. 414 Commercial street.

Pietro told the court he stabbed Principe because the latter, posing as a slight man, persuaded his sixteen-year-old daughter, Emma, to marry him. Intention papers were taken out last week, and Principe and the daughter started for the States Monday. In the meantime, Pietro learned that Principe had a wife and two children in Italy. Pietro said he stabbed Principe to prevent the marriage.

Principe was charged with violating the marriage laws. The case was continued till next week pending investigation by police of Principe's record before he came to America.

DR. McKENNA, Y. D. VETERAN, DEAD

Effects of war service, which was a member of the 101st Airborne Corps in France—caused the death of Dr. Peter George McKenna of No. 38 Rockland street, Canton. He was 62 years of age.

Dr. McKenna was thirty-one years of age. He was a member of the Canton School Committee, the John P. Bailey Council, K. of C. of the Edward Bailey Post, American Legion.

UPSET STOMACH

Cases of Dyspepsia, Acidity, Sourness, Flatulence, Heartburn

Chew a few stomach pills. So pleasant, so effective, so quick to settle an upset stomach. The moment "Pape's Diaper" reaches the stomach all pain and distress from indigestion or a sour, gassy stomach vanishes. Millions know its magic. All druggists recommend this charming stomach corrective.

The under layers of his tender skin are to blame. Reach them in this simple way and eczema is instantly relieved.

THAT constant succession of rashes, chafes, and irritations or roughness on baby's skin. What can the young mother rely on to stop such a skin trouble, heal it, drive it away?

Ordinary surface remedies are not enough. It is deep down in the under layers of the skin that the real root of the trouble lies. They cels and nerve ends inflamed and irritated, pores clogged with poisonous germs—these are what must be reached and brought back to normal. To thousands of mothers, careful physicians are today recommending Resinol Ointment as a safe and effective remedy for constant use. Absolutely pure, healing, mildly antiseptic, Resinol will often soothe away in a day or so the most stubborn rash, or the most trifling blemish. Even a light application sinks deep into the pores, attacks the root of the disorder, and starts the skin again into normality. If you child has any spots, rashes, or irritation of the skin, apply Resinol. It is gentle, it is safe, it is without trace. Its results are surprising. Get a jar at your druggist, or send for a free trial sample to Dept. 10, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Florence R. Morrill, divorced wife of Leon G. Morrill, with her son Russell and daughter Margaret, is shown in the photograph. The latter has asked the Probate Court to reduce the $300 alimony she was ordered to pay Mrs. Morrill and also asks the exclusive custody of Margaret, who is now in school. Mrs. Morrill opposes the petition and offered testimony to show that she requires the entire $300 for household expenses.

SOUTH BOSTON DOCTOR NAMED AS 'SHEIK'

Dorchester Man Charges Alienation of Wife's Affections

Dr. Charles E. Mackey, of No. 523 Broadway, South Boston, will be asked to give the answer in the Suffolk Superior Court to the charge of alienating the affections of Mrs. Julia B. Boyd, formerly young wife of William Boyd of No. 15 Chamberlain street, Dorchester.

Boyd asked for $10,000 for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections and charges Dr. Mackey with seducing Mrs. Boyd from the family roof tree and causing her to remain away for extended periods of time. The plaintiff charges Mackey with improper conduct with Mrs. Boyd during November and December, 1923.

Boyd declares Mackey deprived him of the comfort, aid, society and assistance of his wife, Mrs. Boyd, by living with relative No. 3 Pacific street, South Boston.

Dr. Mackey is a World War veteran and official physician of South Boston Post, American Legion. He was divorced by his wife, Leon Mackey, last October. At the trial Mrs. Mackey charged her husband with "seduction" in his black "professional bag."

Sees Wiping Out of All Life by Abuse of Science

London, Feb. 5.—The possibility of man's complete disappearance from the earth if science is used destructively was suggested in a speech here by Sir Richard Gregory, scientist and editor of Nature.

"We are on the threshold of developments by which forces will be unleashed and powers acquired far beyond what has hitherto been known to man," he said.

"I wish all other gifts, those of science may be used for good or evil and the responsibility for their applications constructive or destructive, rests with statesmen and others to whom political powers are entrusted. If these gifts are misused, man will disappear from this planet."

ACCUSE WOMAN OF ILLEGAL PRACTICE

Wife of Springfield Dentist Is Held Following Charge of Patient

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Margaret M. Con, wife of Dr. Thomas M. Con, a prominent dentist of Springfield, was arrested today on the charge of illegally treating Mrs. Clyde Scudlark, twenty-five, of No. 51 Hayden street.

Mrs. Con was arrested at her home, No. 124 Elm street, and was taken to police station where she was held pending $2,000 bail, pending a hearing.

The complaint was made personally by Mrs. Scudlark, who was discharged yesterday from the Springfield Hospital, after having been in the institution since December 25, as a result, she claims, of an operation Mrs. Con performed last day.

Ten days later, on the advice of another physician, she says, she went to the Springfield Hospital and for several days was near death. Mrs. Con, who is twenty-four years old, told the police that when the woman came to her, she already had been treated. Mrs. Con is said by the police to have practiced as a midwife.

Dr. Con, husband of the accused woman, maintains two dental offices in Springfield and is widely known here.

ALIMONY CUT IS SOUGHT BY MORRILL

Printing Ink Maker Also Asks Exclusive Custody of Daughter

Leon Gilbert Morrill of Brookline, manufacturer of printing ink, who early last November obtained a divorce from Mrs. Florence R. Morrill, has filed a petition with Judge Nelson P. Brown of the Superior Court, who heard the divorce case, to reduce the alimony he must pay Mrs. Morrill.

Morrill also requests that he be given exclusive custody of his daughter, Margaret, now in her mother's custody. Judge Brown took the matter under advisement.

Prior to the divorce proceedings at Dedham, a decree was handed down by the late Judge Flint in the Norfolk County Probate Court ordering Morrill to pay his wife $300 a month.

The decree also gave Morrill custody of his son, Russell, now sixteen years old, and gave the custody of Margaret, now eleven years old, to Mrs. Morrill.

In requesting custody of his daughter, Morrill alleges that her progress in school is not satisfactory.

Neither, it was brought out in testimony, has he desired that Margaret and her brother, being educated at the Middlesex Academy, should live with their paternal grandparents in Norwood, where he also contemplates living.

Morrill now lives in the Hotel Coolidge, Brookline. Mrs. Morrill occupies a Brookline apartment with her mother.

ASSETT FELL'S SPONSOR WAS JAKE HAMON

Clara Smith's Victim Planned Cabinet "Plant" for Oil Grab, Capital Hears

Washington, Feb. 5.—(Copyright, 1924, by C. N. B.)—Jake Hamon, the Oklahoma oil millionaire, who was shot to death late in 1920 by Clara Smith, was responsible for the appointment of Albert S. Fall as Secretary of the Interior.

The story is a recital of how prominent oil operators planned to "plant" one of their number in office as Secretary of the Interior and then to divide the public oil lands of the United States in addition to those possessed by the Omega Indians of Oklahoma.

It is alleged that Hamon made a deal with Henry M. Daugherty, Attorney General of the United States, but at that time looking after the interests of Warren G. Harding as the Chicago convention.

According to witnesses, the Republican officials who are nauseated by the Teapot Dome revelations, Hamon is alleged to have arranged with Daugherty that he himself would be appointed Secretary of the Interior on delivery by Hamon of the seven-tenths votes he controlled to Harding.

Hamon was to refuse the appointment, upon the assurance that Albert S. Fall would receive it, it is alleged.

It is said that Hamon, Daugherty and Sinclair had previously arranged a division of the oil lands of the United States government between them, based on the appointment of Fall. Hamon was to be Secretary of the Interior in 1920 or early in 1921, it is said.

Hamon delivered the vote. Harding was nominated and elected. Then Clara Smith shot and killed Hamon. Then Harding was inaugurated. Then Fall was appointed Secretary of the Interior.

Then Daugherty and Sinclair got the United States oil reserves. Hamon's unexpected death prevented the trio from getting the valuable oil lands of the Omega Indians in Oklahoma. At Daugherty's United States Senator today said there wasn't a doubt in his mind that the three men were definitely planned by three men back in 1915, and that the facts are substantially as related.

$10,000,000 AID FOR WHEAT GROWERS

Washington, Feb. 5.—Plans for immediate formation of a $10,000,000 corporation by private initiative to provide assistance to agriculture with the aid of the War Finance Corporation, if needed, and other recommendations, authorized by the conference called by President Coolidge to consider the situation in the Northwest were outlined in the form of a report today for the President's consideration.

The conference authorized a committee to supervise operation of the proposed corporation, and suggested that the President appoint a committee to deal with the agricultural situation at the same time. The committee is to select banks in the wheat growing sections and calling upon mortgage companies and similar institutions to extend wherever practicable the maturity on farmers' obligations.

"CHICKIE"

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest
Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

With her imagination whirling she liked to walk in majesty; one of the terrific, queenly leaders at whose glance men turned to stone. They had a way of saying: "Aw, come out of it! You're only Mary Blake. You can't fool us with your royal highness airs."

Mary detected this familiarity. She eyed Chickie and winked in her heart that fate had made her an only child. Now, seeing Chickie so fresh and cool, the pretty hair in deep waves and the frilly collar on her sweater, her eyes narrowed: "Oo! You're all dolled, Chickie! But you haven't done another thing all morning. A fat chance you'd have in our house to be anything but a child. Why, Jimmy, even makes fun of me because I round my finger nails, but I notice he thinks points are pretty cute when you wear them."

Chickie sighed. Daring old Jimmy! He did think her pretty cute. And he was so good to her and Mary. Didn't he take them to the Fens every other week. And waffles afterwards!

Another Job

Jimmy was Mary's older brother—13 now. Often on Saturdays he used to come home early before she and Mary were finished with their weekly feast. He would sit on the table, leaning there, grinning at Chickie. Indeed, he was as much her brother as Mary's. Even more, because Mary often flamed up furiously at Jimmy, but Chickie always found him adorable.

Now Mary said—"Oh, yes! Darling! Indeed! Perhaps you wouldn't think so if you had to darn his socks!"

Chickie laughed. But she thought with a pang, "That's the next today!"

They went up the wooden steps to the kitchen. A warm smell of gingerbread floated through the air. Mary cut a huge triangle from the cake she had made. "We might as well eat in place and quiet before the others come."

They pulled up their chairs. They had just dug their elbows in comfortably when a rich voice came over the hall banister: "Mary! Mary, dear!"

At the note of hesitation, Mary shot a swift, eloquent glance at Chickie, saying in exasperation: "There! Now our plans are spoiled!"

this rushed talking; this mysterious speculation. They wondered blithely about life, about love, about their own mothers and fathers and about these older Blake girls.

They were always talking about Lucy—poor Lucy! Lucy was only 18—the oldest in the Blake family—she was married five years and already had four children. They blamed her.

Lucy returned, her arms loaded with bundles; her brown hair flying. As she approached, all the little Adams began to yell at once. Lucy dropped her bundles, seeming to have a dozen arms, gathering them to her and cooing happily: "Push, now, mother!"

But she answered with inquiring resignation: "Yes, mother, Chickie and I are just having chocolate."

"Lucy phoned."

"Mary brought her cup down to the table with a bang. 'Lucy! Well, what does she want?'"

Mary detected this familiarity. She eyed Chickie and winked in her heart that fate had made her an only child.

Now, seeing Chickie so fresh and cool, the pretty hair in deep waves and the frilly collar on her sweater, her eyes narrowed: "Oo! You're all dolled, Chickie! Even more, because Mary often flamed up furiously at Jimmy, but Chickie always found him adorable.

Now Mary said—"Oh, yes! Darling! Indeed! Perhaps you wouldn't think so if you had to darn his socks!"

Chickie laughed. But she thought with a pang, "That's the next today!"

They went up the wooden steps to the kitchen. A warm smell of gingerbread floated through the air. Mary cut a huge triangle from the cake she had made. "We might as well eat in place and quiet before the others come."

They pulled up their chairs. They had just dug their elbows in comfortably when a rich voice came over the hall banister: "Mary! Mary, dear!"

At the note of hesitation, Mary shot a swift, eloquent glance at Chickie, saying in exasperation: "There! Now our plans are spoiled!"

Weak, Nervous Men And Women Quickly Gain New Strength

They Renew Vitality and Nerve Force by a Home Treatment of Wincarnis

The nerve power of our systems finds its life in our blood. Create more blood cells, make the blood richer and we rekindle the fire of bodily strength, for rich, red blood is the driving force of life.

If we are too easily exhausted, lack confidence and sustaining power, are nervous, irritable, sleep fitfully and awake unrefreshed; if we are too thin, pale, nervous-looking, we should think first of our blood. Build more red blood. Gain new strength. Nourish the body tissues. Rejuvenate ourselves. Blood that makes our bodies tingle with the pulsing of life.

Men and women who need a blood builder should go at once to their drug stores and obtain a genuine bottle of Wincarnis. It is a home treatment that costs less than ten cents a day. Wincarnis gives your blood the vitamins it needs. In twelve days you will see the improvement that Wincarnis brings. You will worry no longer because of failing strength.

Housework Mars the Beauty of Your Hands

MANY housewives keep their hands lovely and soft, just by following this simple treatment:

After washing the hands apply a small quantity of VELOGEN, and rub it thoroughly, massaging away from the fingers and toward the wrist.

This treatment before and after washing, during or scrubbing, and at night. You will soon notice an improvement in the appearance of your hands, and roughness and redness will disappear.

Velogen is a crystal-clear preparation of soft, emollient properties, formulated by experts in the care of the skin.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland

THIS love-making of some men is like the champagne, alluring and intoxicating in appearance—but absolutely harmless and without a kick.

To a man, the "big idea" seems to be the only way to get a woman on a par with himself.

There is a willowy and unmanageable and then TAME her.

In love, as in any other dramatic episode, 80 much depends upon "knowing your exit" at the most effective moment.

No, darling, the world's most interesting women are not Jane Adams, St. Gertrude, Joan of Arc and the Queen of England, but Cleopatra, Irene Curdie, Cleo and Peggy Joyce.

Every unmarried man under eighty is looking for a short cut to the heart of a woman; and whether he tries the "brutal caveman" attitude, or the cynical, indifferent pose, it is always merely because he thinks he has a secret "tip"—that THAT is the way to "win them."

A girl used to regard life as a beautiful melodrama, ending in wedding bells; nowadays, she looks upon it as a comedy, beginning with a wedding and ending in a nice, snappy divorce scene.

A man never suffers an with suspense as during the six minutes when he is waiting for a girl's answer to a proposal that she has been waiting six months for him to articulate.

A man is constantly mistaking his liver for his conscience, and his vanity for his heart.
